For Immediate Release

Gettysburg, Pa. - Barley Snyder attorney Adam Boyer was unanimously approved to join the board of directors for Main Street Gettysburg. He began his new role on August 24.

Main Street Gettysburg is a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation, revitalization, and improvement of the Historic District of Gettysburg, according to its website. Through community engagement, the organization seeks to inspire economic growth while maintaining its longstanding history.

"I am excited to serve on the board of directors for the Main Street Gettysburg," Boyer said. "The organization plays a vital role in balancing the growth and preservation of our historic community. I look forward to bringing my skills and experiences to Main Street and helping to further its mission."

Boyer is an attorney in Barley Snyder's Business, Real Estate and Trusts & Estates practice groups. He represents a wide variety of businesses and community organizations, helping them with their legal needs such as transition planning, financing and real estate matters. Boyer also assists individuals with their estate planning and administration needs. Furthermore, he has extensive experience with land preservation and conservation, working at the Land Conservancy of Adams County prior to practicing law.

As a seventh-generation Adams County resident, Boyer has a strong connection to the Gettysburg community. In addition to his newly appointed Main Street board service, Boyer serves on the board of directors for Adams County Bar Association, Mid-Penn Legal Services, Gettysburg Presbyterian Church and the York Springs Historical Society.
