For Immediate Release

York, Pa. - Barley Snyder is pleased to announce that Martin R. Siegel has joined the firm as an of counsel attorney.

Siegel is a member of the firm's Real Estate Practice Group and Environment & Energy Industry Group, bringing with him more than two decades of litigation experience with the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection and additional experience counseling businesses in private practice.

"In my career, I've worked with attorneys from Barley Snyder many times and they have always proven themselves to be of the highest caliber both as attorneys and as people," Siegel said. "The firm's reputation as one of the best in central Pennsylvania is well-deserved and I am excited to be a part of it."

Siegel's work in the environmental field has also led him to many leadership positions in the nonprofit community, including current board of director positions at the Chesapeake Legal Alliance in Annapolis, Md., and the Water Science Institute in Lancaster.

"Marty is the type of professional we look for at Barley Snyder," managing partner Jeff Lobach said. "He's a brilliant attorney, he's well-connected in the community and he selflessly gives his time to nonprofit causes."

Michael Davis, the chair of Barley Snyder's Environment and Energy Industry Group said, "We are delighted to have Marty join our vibrant environmental practice as his addition to our team provides increased depth and experience which will directly benefit our clients."
