York, PA - For the fourth consecutive year, partner Jeff Lobach has been named to Central Penn Business Journal's (CPBJ) Power 100 List. The group of honorees, alongside Lobach, consists of prominent and impactful leaders in the region working in the areas of law, finance, education, government, health care, business and nonprofit organizations. Honorees were selected by CPBJ's editorial and leadership teams based on their outstanding leadership and influence in their communities.

Lobach has been an integral part of the firm for more than 40 years, recently concluding his 10 successful years of service as managing partner in 2023. Under his leadership, Barley Snyder more than doubled in size, growing from a firm of 55 attorneys with five offices to one of more than 130 attorneys with 11 offices. Lobach concentrates his law practice on business and real estate matters and counseling nonprofit organizations.

As a dedicated and active member of the Central Pennsylvania community, Lobach serves on and leads boards and committees of various organizations including WellSpan Health, York County Bar Foundation, York County History Center, York County Community Foundation, Boy Scouts and others. Most recently, Lobach was selected as a CPBJ 2024 ICON Honors recipient, recognizing those whose integrity, vision and selfless service have positively impacted the surrounding community.

"It is a great pleasure to have received this special honor for a fourth year in a row amongst such incredible leaders and changemakers," said Lobach. "I look forward to the year ahead as I continue to serve my clients and community while aspiring to make positive and meaningful change."
